

Two Tribes, Same Nation

Side eye rolling with a straight face

Sistah's on standby at any time or place

"oh we are the better race"

each say.

But stop, wait, rewind, erase

We have been deceived, bamboozled, and hoodwinked

to think

we are different than the other.

Do you not realize we are both royal together?

Same curses, same shame, same bad habits, same blame.

But it is time we stand and claim

our Royal Heritage as one nation.

A mix, a blend, a speckled bird is what TMH calls us.

No longer can the hatred for one another continue but must be devoured and tossed away

As we continue to pray,

that the will of the Father be revealed in us to unify.

Stop the fussing and direct the fight towards the building of our nation and the destruction of this one

Our success is already a battle won, our Lord will increase our Faith

Let's be the light shining together instead of adding to the hatred within the darkness.

That only ignites the vicious cycle of contentment and breeds

More generations of blood shed and leads

Us back into the lower estate of being asleep, as we leap and partake in the fake

Yeah for the holidays created by snakes who do not slither but walk right along side of us each and every day.

Let us adorn in solidarity, following the order of God

This is their biggest fear and as the end draws near

Be doers of this act that will bring down this evil and rise up the Kingdom of Israel.

Yes! Judah and Ephraim are both Majestic, one in the same and when it is realized to it's potential is when the power within will trend and life, eternal, can begin.

All praises to TMH